The Tariff and Administration.

The Washington correspondent of the Bultimore Patriot declares that the Tariff must go down; but says "such is not the design of the Administration, which is one of the greatest cheats that ever imposed upon a confiding people. The talk and bluster about reducing the tar'd to the recenue standard is all mere moushine! The Adminisall the Whige in Congress to vote against the re- | any inferior to its predecessors. peal of the tariff, and that a sufficient number of Loco Focos in one House or the other can be induced to vote the same way, to defeat the measthe country will prosper, while the Administration will still go on singing its song of reduction to the recenue standard!"

There may be some truth in the above. We have no doubt that the more moderate of the Loco-Focus for the consequences of any considerable attention of the tariff, and would willingly keep it an open question for the present. It would best subserve the interests of this class of politicians to have the taniff remain as it is until another Presidential cause ugo. In the mean time the country would prosper, industry be rewarded and capital be mofitality employed. Then the Loca Forces could play at their old game of exerting the poor the baser passions of the human heart with more effect; attributing the poverty of the poer and the prosperity of their wealth, raneighbors to the "accursed touth?

But whatever the Administration or the wirepulling Loco Foco leaders really desire, they have gone too far in their was upon the tariff to stop now: they have raised a storm which they cannot activity, until they have accomplished their work | sure | up by legal men " -done the bidding of British aristociats-annihifated American manu actures, and destroyed our home market.

The Modern Nestor.

The official organ of the present Administration buls fair to become as reliculous as that of John Tyler. "Father Ritchie" has not yet advanced to such perfection in the art of flattery, as Joan Jones; but there is only a 'a. 's diff rence between them, and it is anticipated that soon John will be eclipsed. In Varginia abstractions, Ritchie is the superior of John, and for surpasses him in his attention to the thousand and one runors of the day. This "modern Nestor"seems in a minuter to have lost his influence among a portion of his own parrizans. This, of course, is a proof of the degeneracy of the times The wisdom of Nestor is disregarded; his great talents cease to command respect; and it is now openly declared by the "Young Democracy" that an effort will be made to deprive him of the public printing. And, if they succeed, the organ of the will have the shadow without the ad afficial," here death blowan botan will be si?

The war between the "Old Hunkers" and the "Young Democracy" is every day begoning more and more amusing. Recently the U S. Journal refused to do homage to "Nestor," and thereupon the Union stopped exchanging with it. The transfer of the Union stopped exchanging with it. The transfer of the Union stopped exchanging with it. The transfer of the Union stopped exchanging with it. The transfer of the Union stopped exchanging with it. The Balance of Trade.

Much is said about the balance of Prude, and the official reports of the Treasury Department are referred to as exhibiting what that balance is.

The balance of trade is not truly indicated by the reports of the Treasury, because they give the home valuation of the exports at the time of shipment, not what they nett in foreign markets. For illustration, let us take cotton, which is the vice. greatest article of export, and which one Samuel Brown, year may lose heavily and the next make Ira E Goodall, money. The collectors may report to the A W Palmer, Kenzie's giving some of the striking events | Secretary that the home valuation of the exports of this article is fifty millions of dollars, but this cotton may not nett the R N Kimball, hand, looking at the successful year, the exports of cotton valued in this country at fify millions may nett sixty millions .-These remarks are alike applicable to imare-and thus, that the tatiff will be preserved and ed their members against speculating in rail- ports. So neither the secretary nor any one else can tell, by custom house returns, I Ogden, whether the balance of trade is in our favor oragainst us. In 1846 we may exmittee of the Settlers upon the Milwankie and port products, all told, valued at one hun-Rock River Canal Reserve came to hand too late dred millions, and import a corresponding for this morning's paper. They will appear to- amount, from which, to the common observer, it would appear there would be balance either way; but, by reason the on the exports, (no uncommon thing, by York express, speaking of a late important the way,) there may be a bona fide balance decision of the Court of Chancery, de. against us of twenty or thirty, willions. If clared by Vice Chancellor Sandfort, says: there be a balance against use it is only indicated by the rate of foreign exchange "Until very recently it has been sup-posed that our mechanics and manufacturports, bills on Europe will be above par value; rice versa, they will be under par. When sterling bills are about nine per cent, premium we may safely estimate the

It is quite clear, we think, that the safest and most solid business for us would he to make our exports exceed our imports, because the balance, whatever it may be, 1846 we export one hundred and fifty millions and import only one hundred millions the balance of fifty millions due us by the residue of the world will be received in the "hard," which should be as welcome In the American Army under Cen. to the Locofocos as the Whige But if
